Fighting Poverty, One Job at a Time

FareStart's new Foodservice Apprenticeship Program is designed to ensure that FareStart adult and youth graduates and other entry-level foodservice workers have the opportunities they need to escape poverty through a career in foodservice that earns them a living wage.

You have the opportunity to contribute to the Apprentice Scholarship Fund, which supports specific needs of apprentices during their training.

Your Donation Will Fund:

- Apprentice stipends
- Training personnel
- Transportation for apprentices
- Workday meals
- "Power Skills" (career oriented life skills and support for apprentices)
- Financial literacy training
- Career specialist and job placement support
- Certified apprentice job retention services
- Graduate toolkit and certificate

"Working side-by-side with chefs with lots of industry experience, I'm learning how to deal with stress and work as part of a team."

- Juanita, apprentice

Rising Higher Campaign

"This program provides the opportunity to move forward and achieve the goals in my life - such as having a house - by giving me the skills to develop a career."

- Michael, apprentice

Gifts of all sizes are needed as we grow the program to serve more people who are ready to work to escape poverty by training for a living wage foodservice career.

- ◆ Donors will receive one year of periodic updates on individuals enrolled in the program.
- ◆ All donations will go into a pool to fund all apprentices.
- ◆ The average cost of an apprentice's time in training at FareStart is $10,000. Donors who give full scholarships at this level will receive increased update information and permanent Rising Higher Campaign recognition at Maslow's by FareStart.
